John S. Mulholland Family Foundation, Inc.

FACT SHEET

History: The John S. Mulholland Family Foundation was founded on December 3, 2013 to serve the working poor of inner city Washington, D.C. The Foundation is incorporated in Delaware and the District of Columbia and is a 501(c)(3) public charity, Federal tax ID is 46-4273581.

Mission: The Foundation's mission is to ensure that food pantries in the poorest sections of the District of Columbia have the necessary means to provide food assistance to working poor families. The food insecurity in the District, at 13.4%, is the 5th highest in the Nation. While 15% of Americans receive some form of food assistance, such as SNAP, that number jumps to 23% in the District. Tragically, the numbers jump dramatically higher for children.

The majority of individuals are working poor or retired with some form of income in the family. However, there are also multi-generational families, and while the District now finally boasts one of the highest minimum wages in the Nation, it is important to remember that it is still below the poverty level and Washington remains the most expensive city in the United States in which to raise a family.

Before the Foundation existed, the pantries we now serve often turned away individuals and families, simply because they had nothing to offer them. The demand far outweighed the supply. Today, no one is turned away, and the number of people we serve has quadrupled – currently 750 families each month.

The clients are Black, White, Latino and Asian. Some are native Washingtonians and some are recent immigrants. They represent every faith and no faith at all. They are served regardless of their background or station – they simply have to demonstrate a need.

The United States sends Billions of dollars in aid to foreign Nations each year, yet residents of the Capital often wonder where the next meal is coming from. While the Foundation does not pretend to be solving the problem, we are – along with scores of other like-minded organizations – contributing to a solution.

About John S. Mulholland: John S. Mulholland (1923-2012) was a husband, father, grandfather and great-grandfather who served his country in the U.S. Navy in World War II and then enjoyed a storied career in the Federal Bureau of Investigation. A devout Catholic, Mr. Mulholland believed we are called to serve others. Upon his passing, his family chose to celebrate his life and honor his memory by establishing this Foundation to serve the poor among us.

Results: In the period January 1, 2014 – January 1, 2017, the Foundation has collected and delivered 364,000 cans and packages of non-perishable food and, with monetary donations, has purchased and delivered 15 tons of fresh produce, milk and eggs, meat and poultry. Our non-perishable donors are regional churches, schools, civic organizations and companies and our signature fresh food program is supported by donors in 18 States and the District of Columbia.

A CAPITAL EVENING: The Foundation’s sole fundraising event is an annual Gala Dinner and Silent Auction at The Capital Hilton, this year to be held on Friday, November 10, 2017 and chaired by Sharon Briskman, David Piscola and Jenny Abreu. Tickets are $225 and proceeds fund the organization for the following year. Through expert event and general management, and through the generosity of corporate donors and vendors, the Foundation last year kept expenses to a mere 26% and plans on improving upon that this year.

The year’s corporate donors include Greystone, Hilton Worldwide, Shrine of the Most Blessed Sacrament, The Capital Hilton, EPI-Printing, and Caruso Florist. In addition to the Gala Dinner, a silent auction during the cocktail reception invites participants to bid on a variety of items, including trips to outstanding destinations.
